Description

INTRODUCTION

Part of this very well presented family Villa, was built incorporating existing 3 feet wide stone walls from a traditional house, which in our days, contains the kitchen and 2 of the first floor bedrooms and family bathroom. The design has cleverly integrated the existing stone features from the old building, creating a spacious, modern and comfortable family home in excellent structural and decorative condition, set on a plot measuring 955 square metres.

The natural light floods the property through the large windows and patio doors all around the building. For comfort in the winter the property is centrally heated and has double glazed throughout. There's also the possibility for an easy installation of air-con, all the pipe work and electric cabling is already there.

The property is connected to mains water and electricity.

The villa was built in 2007.
