Description

This is a place where peace, privacy and nature come together in perfect balance. Morning coffee on the terrace, afternoons by the pool, evenings beneath star-filled skies and the gentle rhythm of life in the beautiful Portuguese countryside create a lifestyle that is becoming increasingly difficult to find.

The house, which measures 238,7 square meters of construction, is set on a plot measuring 3320 square meters of fully enclosed ground. Traditional stone walls and quality fencing provide privacy, while the mature gardens have been lovingly established over the years. Lemon, almond, fic, persimmon, pomegranate, apple, plump and orange trees grow alongside palm trees and Mediterranean planting, while natural stone pathways and terraces create inviting places to relax. Eleven mature olive trees offer the pleasure of producing your own organic oil each season.

One of the home's greatest attractions is its rare combination of privacy, traditional Portuguese character and modern comfort. The surrounding land is currently designated for agricultural use only. Beyond the main house, a substantial traditional stone barn (70 m2) provides excellent workshop and storage space. Featuring natural stone walls and a recently renewed roof, it also offers potential for conversion into guest accommodation, an artist's studio or hobby room, subject to any necessary permissions. The house is fully double glazed, and it is connected to both mains electric and water and has a telephone line and Fibre-optic internet installed.

Carefully maintained and improved over the years, the property is in good condition and is ready to enjoy from day one. A solar hot water system is complemented by a 6 kW solar installation comprising 16 panels and a 10 kWh battery storage system, helping to reduce running costs while providing greater energy independence.
